WEIGHT LOSS GUIDELINES

STALLS WEIGHT LOSS

Sugar

Candy (even sugar-free), dessert, pies, ice cream, etc. Watch for added sugars in foods such as fructose, high-fructose corn syrup, glucose, barley malt, sucrose, etc.

Agave or honey

These are sugars and will stall fat loss.

Starches

Flour, grains, rice, bread, pasta, cereal, granola, popcorn, etc.

Starchy vegetables

Potatoes, sweet potatoes, corn, artichokes, peas, beans, etc.

Milk or other dairy not listed under “Promotes Weight Loss”

Such as non-fat milk, cream, yogurt, cottage cheese, cream cheese, sour cream, etc.

Milk alternatives

Such as soy, rice, almond, or hemp milks.

Nuts not listed under “Promotes Weight Loss”

Such as peanuts, cashews, pecans, etc.

Nut butters of any type

Such as peanut, almond, or cashew butters.

Fruits

Avoid all fruits except for an apple a day.

Protein or meal replacement bars of any type

These are not necessary and can stall fat loss.

Start killer workouts, marathons or boot camps

Focus on creating a simple and consistent routine of walking every day.

Cheating

Stick to these guidelines to see your best results; cheating can stall your progress for days.

Weighing yourself

Measurements, fit of your clothing, and energy levels are better indicators of your progress.

Juices

Fruit or vegetable juices (even with no sugar added) must be avoided.

Protein or meal replacement shakes/drinks

These can stall your weight loss. You will get plenty of protein from the foods you're eating.

Alcohol of any type

Even low-carb, low-calorie, gluten-free, and/or non-alcoholic beer will stall fat loss or build fat.
